

LIQUOR LICENSE HEARING

Will Occur Monday Night and Attendance Will be Limited

TO ISSUE 450 TICKETS

Which Will Include Members of the Legislature—Bill for Bureau of Research.

Columbus, Jan. 18.—Those interested in the hearings to be held by the temperance committee of the house on the proposed liquor license code at 7:30 o'clock Monday and Tuesday evenings, today raised the question as to whether the committee should limit the number of auditors at the hearing to 450 each night. The question was based upon the action taken by the Democratic caucus, providing that everything before the 80th general assembly be "open."

Among those included in the 450 limit placed by the joint committee will be the legislators themselves. Among those who will talk for the "drys" will be D. F. Anderson of Youngstown, John F. Wynn of Defiance, both of whom were members of the constitutional convention that framed the license amendment; Probate Judge Samuel L. Black of Columbus, and Wayne B. Wheeler of Columbus, superintendent of the Ohio Anti-Saloon League.

A. J. Freiberg of Cincinnati, an attorney for the "wets," has charge of the speakers for his side and will speak himself. Percy Andrea, who has spoken for the wets at previous hearings, has been in Europe and may not return in time for the hearing.

The administration bill creating a bureau of research will be introduced in the house Monday. It will be the first to get before the legislature of the several important measures modeled upon the Wisconsin plan of government which Governor Cox will seek to have incorporated in Ohio statutes.

Itself a progressive measure, it has been one of the chief agencies used in Wisconsin to make the government of that state progressive.

The Wisconsin bureau has been brought to a high state of efficiency under Dr. Charles McCarthy. Governor Cox has been hunting for a man of equal capacity to put at the head of the proposed Ohio bureau. It is planned to have his appointee made a member of the O. S. T. faculty, and, as in Wisconsin, to have his salary paid in part by the University and in part by the state. Also, as in Wisconsin, it is desired to make use of the services of some of the 800 students in the department of economics and sociology in the research work contemplated, perhaps only of the post-graduate students.

INDIANS THE VICTIMS OF S. O. PLOTS

Washington, Jan. 18.—Charges that Secretary Fisher attempted to coerce the Osage Indians into leasing valuable oil fields to the Standard Oil Co., and the counter-charge by the secretary that the United-Sam Oil Co. attempted to acquire the field under circumstances that were threatening proceedings by Attorney General Wickersham were aired today before the house committee on Indian affairs.

In the meanwhile, seven Osages, members of the tribal council, who were removed Jan. 3 by Secretary Fisher because, he said, it was found they had been "unduly influenced in making a lease to the United-Sam Company," went to the supreme court and got out a mandamus calling on the secretary to show cause next Tuesday why they should not be reinstated.

THREE SUPPERS AND A BREAKFAST IN EIGHT HOURS

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 18.—President Taft, who had a busy time of it last night attending three dinners and delivering as many speeches, was the guest of honor this morning at a breakfast given by the officers of the Clover Club. There he made his third speech of the night shortly before one o'clock this morning on a roof garden of a twenty-story hotel, to the Medical Club of Philadelphia. Mr. Taft is expected to join the president here today.

CO-OPERATION WITH LICKING FARMERS ADVISED BY THE NEWARK BOARD OF TRADE

A more complete sympathy and understanding between the merchants and the farmers of Licking county, between the farmers of the county and the citizens of Newark, and the development of mutually advantageous trade relations is the burden of a resolution passed by the Board of Trade at the directors' meeting Thursday night.

Saturday a copy of the resolution was furnished to the press of the city and with it the information that the merchants and business men of Newark, through the Board of Trade, will make every effort to bring the merchants of the city and the residents of the county districts to a realization that sympathy and co-operation will benefit each in equal measure, that the trade of the farmers with local merchants will mean Newark's growth and that Newark's growth will mean better prices for farm products and will enhance the value of the farms of the county.

The resolution as passed by the Board of Trade follows:

Newark, O., Jan. 16, 1913.
At a meeting of the directors of the Board of Trade of this city and representatives of the Farmers' Grange of this county held during the early part of last August it was mutually agreed that the interests of our merchants, citizens and agriculturalists are common and that the best interests of all would be served by co-operation in trade relations.

The press of this city has lately given generous space advocating the use of the Parcel Post as a means to develop trade between our merchants and farmers, which was very commendable on their part and is in sympathy with the policy of the Board of Trade to encourage development which will benefit our citizens and agriculturalists as a whole. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That it shall be the policy of the Board of Trade to continue to promote a spirit of co-operation between our merchants, citizens and agriculturalists to trade development that will be to their mutual advantage. Be it further

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Board of Trade and copies be furnished the press of this city for publication.

WOMEN ROUT POLICE WITH UMBRELLAS

New York, Jan. 18.—With hats and umbrellas several hundred women fought the police today in one of the fiercest riots since the beginning of the garment workers' strike. A lone policeman who tried to protect male strike breakers was beaten black and blue. The policeman arrested one woman, but had to summon twelve other officers to his assistance. Five other women were arrested in another riot, when a woman assaulted a truck driver.

Sycamore, O., Jan. 18.—"Wet" petitions have been in circulation here for the past several days and the required 40 per cent signatures have been secured. A man whose business is in Newark certainly cannot be interested in the success of his business unless he is vitally interested in the success of Newark.

The man who hasn't time to boost has plenty of time to be a failure.

POINCAIRE PRESIDENT OF FRANCE

Elected by Delegates Despite Argument With M. Clemenceau

OTHER OFFICIALS RESIGN

Clerical and Monarchical Press Seem Satisfied With Ability of New Executive of the Republic.

Paris, Jan. 18.—The French cabinet met today at the palace of the Elysee under the chairmanship of President Fallieres and all the ministers formally offered their resignations as a sequel to yesterday's election of Premier Raymond Poincare as chief executive. President Fallieres requested all the members of the government to retain their portfolios until their successors had been chosen. The newspapers, even those possessing monarchistic and clerical sentiments comment on the election with favor and with a unanimity unprecedented in French politics.

Premier Poincare was insulted by ex-Premier George Clemenceau at the opening of the congress yesterday and at once appointed Aristide Briand, the minister of justice, and L. L. Klotz, minister of finance, to act as his seconds and to arrange a duel. Later Clemenceau made a satisfactory explanation to Briand and Klotz and the incident closed.

Deputy A. De Monzie and Paul Boncour, former minister of labor, also quarreled in the corridors of the palace of Versailles, as a result of which M. Monzie sent his seconds to M. Boncour.

The incident between Poincare and Clemenceau arose out of a letter sent by the former premier to M. Poincare, the contents of which were considered offensive by M. Poincare.

Mr. Herrick, the United States ambassador, told the Associated Press that what most impressed him at Versailles yesterday was the great dignity and the quietness with which the proceedings throughout were conducted. The lack of excitement, which, perhaps, in a measure, was due to the secret ballot, as compared to American conventions and elections, was surprising to an American.

WILL REFUSE ADRIANOPLE.

London, Jan. 19.—The Ottoman government's reply to the note of the European powers, which was presented to the Porte by the ambassadors at Constantinople yesterday, will be a refusal to yield Adrianople and adjoining territory to the Balkan allies, according to a dispatch received here. The reply, it is understood, will be conciliatory on the other points in dispute, and will intimate Turkey's readiness to resume negotiations in London on this basis. The delegates in London of the Balkan allied nations say that if this is the Turkish reply, it means a resumption of war.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Frank A. Bryant, former valet of Senator Nelson of New York, who was temporarily confined yesterday in Governor Sulzer's court, today admitted that he had destroyed a letter which incriminated the United States senator. Nelson's statement concerning alleged slanders on the part of the valet was given in court today.

Wilson Family American for Three Generations.

Woodrow Wilson came through the two generations that preceded him a century of tenacity and loyalty. His grandfather, James M. Wilson, settled in the United States in 1807. He came from County Down in Ireland but was descended from Scotch stock. James Wilson made his home in Philadelphia and brought up his family in the faith of Calvin and Knox. One of his sons, Joseph Huxgley Wilson, father of the president-elect, preached for many years in the Augusta Presbyterian church. Joseph Wilson hoped that his son, Thomas Woodrow, would become a minister, and was disappointed when he learned that the young man leaned more to pedagogy than to theology problems. The photographs show the first generation of the family in this country.

THUNDER AND LIGHTNING IN SKIES TODAY

Rather an unusual occurrence was noted this morning, when the weather man distributed about five minutes of thunder and lightning. The storm, however, passing over the city, eastward, very rapidly. But little rain fell, the clouds being followed by a high wind that seemed to clear up the atmosphere and allow the sun to shine for the rest of the morning. To have thunder and lightning in January is said to be almost without precedent in this section of the country.

ROBBERS DROP DYNAMITE IN CAR BURGLARY

Girard, O., Jan. 18.—Included in the merchandise stolen by box car thieves from the B. & O. railroad company, early today were fifty pound boxes of dynamite. Sticks of the explosives were found scattered promiscuously about the tracks and over the business section of the town. One large stick was found 200 yards from the scene of the robbery.

MAINE RAIL MEN STRIKE; NO TROUBLE

Bangor, Me., Jan. 18.—The engineers and firemen of the Bangor & Aroostook railroad struck today. The directors yesterday refused to grant an increase in wages, insisting that the earnings of the road would not permit it, and were at once notified that the men would go out in 24 hours. Officials say the strikers will be replaced and that the road's service will not be interrupted.

GOVERNOR COX ACKNOWLEDGES NEWARK GREETING

Last Monday, the day when James M. Cox became Governor of Ohio, a neatly framed document headed "Greetings from Newark to Governor Cox" was placed upon the new Governor's desk. One hundred and forty signatures were attached, including the principal manufacturers, all of the banks, all of the newspapers, officers of the commercial and labor organizations, city and county officials, lawyers, judges, doctors, ministers, business men. Only a little time was taken to circulate the paper but every man who was seen signed it. The greeting was strictly non-partisan and was simply a message of good will from Newark to the new executive.

Governor Cox has acknowledged receipt of Newark's greeting in the following letter:

"Columbus, Jan. 16, 1913.
"My Dear Mr. Spencer:—
"I have received the greeting from Newark. Please say to those of my friends who joined in this testimonial that the only way I hope to be able to show my appreciation of their confidence in me is by 'making good.' Give to each of those who signed the greeting, as well as to all other Newark well wishers, my sincerest regards, and assure them that my fondest hope is that they may not have to revise their estimate of me at the end of my term of office.
"Very truly yours,
"JAMES M. COX."
"Mr. C. H. Spencer,
"Newark, Ohio."

PENN TEAM PLAYS BASEBALL IN OPEN

Philadelphia, Jan. 18.—The weather in Philadelphia yesterday was so warm that the candidates for University of Pennsylvania baseball team started off a winter record by practicing in the open of Franklin Field. The team, which was made up of men from various colleges, played a game of baseball, the highest score being 12 runs, 10 hits and 10 errors.

HOW YOU CAN TELL THE BEST GOODS TO BUY.

You have often received a substitute for the article you asked for and upon using it found the quality to be inferior. In time, the manufacturer of the article you wanted learns of the cheap imitation, and begins suit against the imitator for infringement of trademark, unfair business competition, or some other good legal reason.

Your interests are the manufacturer's interests. His trademark, name, package design, and advertisements are guarantees to you of definite quality and reasonable price. He defends them regardless of cost, for they are his business life.

He pays the state for registering a trademark, package design, or business name, and is given the right to protect them. This protects you when buying, since you often can think of nothing but the trademark, business name, or package design.

THE ADVOCATE'S advertisers are spending thousands of dollars every year to give you protection from inferior quality and cheap imitations.

It pays manufacturers to advertise worthy articles in THE ADVOCATE and it will pay you to read these advertisements closely and constantly every day as a matter of self-protection.

Columbus, O., Jan. 18.—Tears fell thick and sighs were heard on every side, bespeaking the awakening of tenderest emotions and the rekindling of sacred memories of the days gone by, as Rev. Billy Sunday preached his sermon on "Mother" at the tabernacle yesterday afternoon.

In strength it seemed more than a sermon from human lips—it seemed the evangelist did something to bring mother and old-time associations to the very place, there, for a little while, to live them over again. Her love, her fidelity, her hardships and all those qualities God endowed her with to make the name of mother the one all the world reveres and honors were eulogized and praised in remarkable language, testimony to the force of which was overwhelmingly expressed in tears.

It was distinctly a meeting dedicated to mothers, although it was open to the public. Long before Rev. Mr. Sunday began preaching the tabernacle was filled and thousands were refused admission. The audience was one of the largest to which he has preached in the afternoon, and most of those who comprised it were mothers, grandmothers, and some were great-grandmothers.

Throbbing and pulsating with religious fervor, which had just been intensified by a notable sermon, a big congregation in the tabernacle last evening yielded 241 conversions. Two Columbus policemen, Charles Davidson (colored) and Thomas Charters, re-pledged to the invitation from Rev. Mr. Sunday last night. Both were in their uniforms, and when they presented themselves at the platform the evangelist slapped them on the back and congratulated them for the stand they had taken.

Another incident at the platform which greatly impressed Mr. Sunday was when a well-dressed man, with hair just turning gray, was led forward by his little daughter, "God bless you both," was the greeting Rev. Mr. Sunday spoke to them.

Many of the women present in the afternoon were octogenarians. One who came forward with lively step at the close of the meeting to shake hands with Mr. Sunday surprised him with her statement that she was 83 years old. Others who greeted him told him they were past their eightieth year. Hundreds of infirm mothers would have been unable to attend the services but for the kindness of owners of automobiles who donated the use of their machines in conveying them to and from the tabernacle.

Nearly every person in the audience wore a white flower. Roses, carnations and narcissi were most conspicuous. Many flowers disposed of all the white flowers they had and practically all experienced a tremendous demand for them. White ribbons also were worn by many. The greatest display of white in the audience came when the Chattanooga salute was rendered as an honor to the mother of Governor Cox, who occupied a seat in the choir section.

Mrs. Cox was escorted to the pulpit by Rev. Mr. Sunday, who said: "I want to present the first lady of Ohio—the mother of Governor Cox." There was applause and waving of handkerchiefs and then the Chattanooga salute was rendered. Thousands of white handkerchiefs were seen in the air, and Mrs. Cox smilingly bowed to the audience.

Another interesting feature of the meeting was the singing of "The Man of Galilee" by Mrs. Jack Bringer, 73 years old, 421 1/2 East Long street. Mrs. Bringer requested to be permitted to sing. She stood on the evangelist's platform while singing, and, despite her advanced age, her voice was heard over the entire building.

"Good morning, sir."
"Mr. Margrave, I presume?"
"I am. How can I be of service to you?"
An elderly man received a much younger one in his office. Instead of at once replying to the last question the latter produced a card bearing the name "Alonso Erickson," then, after being offered a chair, said:
"My visit will doubtless seem strange to you at first, but I trust that I shall be able in time to secure your concurrence with its object. You have a daughter whose life has recently been blighted by the loss of her fiancé."
"I have," replied Mr. Margrave somewhat coldly.
"There are remedies for such blights, and I come to propose one for this case."
Mr. Margrave looked at the stranger, wondering at his impudence.
"Marriage is the remedy I refer to, but you are well aware that marriage is simply the final act, it being necessary to withdraw the concentration of the feelings from the one who is lost and unite them on a living object."
"That in my daughter's case would be impossible."
"But desirable?"
"Certainly! I do not wish her to pass a lifetime in mourning."
"I am an artist by profession, though, being cursed with a fortune in my own right of $200,000, I do not expect to make any great success."
"Well, sir, will you kindly inform me what your profession or your fortune is to me?"
"I will as I proceed. One evening several years ago I saw your daughter at a ball. The moment I looked at her I knew that I saw the woman I wanted for a life partner. I made inquiries about her and was told that she was engaged to a gentleman also present at the ball. The troubles that invariably accompany love were upon me. My first act was to seek the man who had been so fortunate, and I was surprised to see a slight resemblance to myself."
"You are something like him, now you speak of it."
"It is this slight resemblance which is the key—provided I win your concurrence—to the situation."
Mr. Margrave had by this time become interested.
"I will give you references as to my social position and as a man among men. As to my fortune, I refer you to my lawyers, Peters & Waters. If after examination you are satisfied to give me an opportunity to win your daughter that is all I ask."
"By what process do you propose to make the attack upon her heart? But, no! I will make the inquiries. Then it will be time to explain your plan, or, rather, to gratify my curiosity, which I admit has been excited."
Mr. Erickson bowed himself out and in a fortnight received a note from Mr. Margrave stating that the reports he had received had been eminently satisfactory and if he could resurrect a buried heart he was at liberty—indeed, welcome—to do so. In reply the applicant merely asked for a photograph of the man whose place he hoped to take.
One afternoon when Mr. Margrave went home from business he carried with him a present for his daughter. It was a portrait in oils of her lost lover. She was delighted with it and pronounced it a speaking likeness. A month from that day while looking at it she discovered something about it that was slightly unlike the original, or, rather, it was like another picture of the original. Another month went by, and still another difference was noticeable. These changes kept occurring from time to time. She began to wonder if her memory of her lover was slipping away from her, if the picture was really defective, though she had not at first recognized its defects. She mentioned the matter to her father, who looked at her curiously, thoughtfully, and suggested that if the portrait was destroying her remembrance of the dead and substituting a painted image perhaps she would better banish it. But to this she returned a decided negative, declaring that she was growing to love the portrait more and more every day.
A year after young Erickson had called on Mr. Margrave he dropped into the latter's office one morning with an oil painting.
"The successive portraits forming a slow transition between another and myself is ended in this picture, which I painted from my reflection in a mirror. You have been very fortunate in removing the pictures and substituting others without your daughter's discovering what you have done. Hang this portrait in the place of the last; then introduce me."
When one evening Mr. Margrave brought home with him a friend to dinner Elbert Margrave, on being introduced to him, caught at the back of a chair for support. It seemed to her that her lover had arisen from the dead and stood before her. Later, when she mentioned the resemblance of Mr. Erickson to the man she had lost, some admitted that there was a similarity, others could see none at all. Nevertheless, her mourning was soon thrown off, Erickson was a frequent caller at the house and within a few months after his introduction she married him.
Erickson has long intended to tell his wife of the plan by which he drew her from the dead lover, but as yet has not done so.
The charity that covers a multitude of sins begins at home.

TRAIN FOR 1916 OLYMPICS.
College of Athletes Founded in France by Marquis de Polignac.
Paris.—Preparations for the next Olympic games are already active here, the athletes of France being determined that their country shall give a good account of herself in Berlin in 1916.
The training will begin next April at the College of Athletes, which is being founded by the Marquis de Polignac. The college will eventually be installed just outside of Paris, but meanwhile the marquis, who married a daughter of M. Pommeroy, the "champion king," is placing at the college's disposition the Parc Pommeroy at Ithèmes.
All official and amateur champions of France as well as those who are able to pass the difficult tests of the college will be eligible for a course of free training at the expense of the marquis, whose public spirited support of French athletics is earning wide spread applause.
It is reported here that the Germans, who were greatly impressed by the American successes of last year, have already engaged Jack Donaldson, the Australian athlete, and E. R. Terry.

SIGH FOR OHIO FLESHPOTS.
American Workmen in Germany Object to Lower Standard of Living.
Berlin.—The members of the colony of eighty or ninety workmen's families recently imported from an Ohio manufacturing city for the purpose of instructing the German staff of an American factory are having an insight into the differences between German and American workmen's living standards. Families which at home were used to meat and dairy products once or twice a day find it entirely beyond workmen's purses to enjoy such "luxuries" in Germany.
Their German comrades are content with a daily diet of black coffee, oleomargarine, cheese, sausage and vegetables, with meat perhaps on Sunday. The Ohio families find it impossible to reduce their home standards to such a level and are correspondingly discontented with their lot here.

RUSSIAN SERFDOM ENDED.
Abolished in Caucasus by Council of the Empire.
St. Petersburg.—The council of the empire adopted a law abolishing the last vestiges of serfdom in Russia. When the rescript of emancipation was issued in 1861 the Caucasus was excepted from its provisions on account of special conditions there, and transitional measures were instituted pending the adoption of the most suitable method for giving the serfs their freedom.
This transitional stage now, after half a century, has been terminated though there was still opposition to its being abolished.
Premier Kokortsoff personally appeared before the council of the empire to urge the adoption of the new law. It already has passed the duma.

TO STAGE A PLAY BY KING NICHOLAS
Anticipates the Present War, Though Written Years Ago.

London.—A three act political drama by King Nicholas of Montenegro will shortly be produced in London. It was written some forty years ago, when the king was a mere princeling.
J. T. Grein, who holds the European rights of the play, describes the composition as not only a literary and dramatic curiosity, but also an intelligent anticipation—a "most striking example of political clairvoyance"—of events which are now making history.
The title of the play is "The Empress of the Balkans." It is dedicated to Montenegro, the whole idea being to rouse the people to a patriotic fever.
The play was produced some years ago in Germany with success. The English adaptation is now being done by an English poet.

LIZARD ALIVE IN THROAT.
Coughed It Up and Now Getting Well After Two Years.
Lafayette, N. J.—Evan Jones, who is beginning to recover from a cough that has made his life miserable for the past two years, says the cause was nothing less than a lizard three inches long.
Jones declared that he brought up the reptile while out driving. He had a paroxysm of coughing on the road. At the end of it he choked, he said, and reached down his throat for relief. He seized the lizard and drew it to the light of day.
The agony of coughing that Jones endured is ascribed to the frantic efforts of the lizard to liberate itself.

SWISS SEE RED SNOW.
Villagers Believe It to Be Portent of European War.
Geneva.—Red snow is falling on the Silvretta glacier and in other parts of the Vorarlberg district as low in altitude as 3,000 feet, the downfall being fairly heavy.
The superstitious villagers, who already believe 1913 to be an unlucky year, are much troubled by the phenomenon, declaring it means a great war.
It is only a step from the heights of folly to the depths of despair.

WOMAN SICK FOURTEEN YEARS

Eikhart, Ind.—"I suffered for fourteen years from organic inflammation, female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me.

WASHINGTON LETTER
(By George Ide.)
Washington, Jan. 18.—At the close of the Civil war, when our manufacturing industries were in their infancy, it appeared to be necessary to enact certain laws to encourage such industries and enable those engaged therein to pay a reasonable wage to employees while they were building up the business to the point of successful competition with like imported products. At that time no serious objection was made to these laws; but as these manufacturing institutions grew financially strong and improved their facilities to an extent that enabled them to cheapen the cost of production, they still insisted on the same protective laws that had favored them in their infancy, remaining in force. To accomplish their purpose they proceeded to take a hand in the control of the government itself, by contributing liberally to the election expenses of the political party that favored this extreme class legislation.
In the early stages of this so-called protection, a raise in the wages of employees was extremely beneficial, because of the fact that the prices of the various commodities, purchased to supply themselves and their families, were regulated by the then universal law of supply and demand. There were, at that time, no trade combinations to arbitrarily fix a sufficiently higher price of these commodities to absorb the increase in the workman's wage. But as these erstwhile infants became giants, and accumulated wealth beyond the dreams of avarice, they assumed full control of all the functions of government, both State and National, by piling into the coffers of the campaign committees of their chosen party such enormous amounts of their ill-gotten wealth that the opposing party, always cramped for financial support, was powerless to successfully contest the election.
Probably the high watermark of these contributions was reached in the Presidential campaign of 1896 when it has been stated, the chairman of the Republican committee raised the enormous sum of sixteen millions of dollars to defeat the new champion that came out of the west to lead the mighty hosts of the common people against the further encroachments of these powerful beneficiaries of this robbing tariff legislation. This great leader of the masses failed of election, notwithstanding the fact that he received a greater popular vote than had ever, prior to that time, been polled by and successful candidate for the Presidency; and had it not been for a secret alliance, now well understood, that secured thousands of votes that were usually cast for the Democratic ticket, these millions contributed by the privileged classes would have been wasted.
At any period in the history of this country, when a crisis has arisen, the man has appeared to successfully meet it. It was true in the time of Washington, of Jackson and of Lincoln. Every indication points to the fact that it is true at the present time. President-elect Wilson has clearly pointed the way in his recent public utterances; his reference to the gibbet of Haman as the proper method of dealing with public malefactors, and his declaration to the money barons of Chicago that we must see to it that business is set free of every feature of monopoly, is conclusive evidence that a new Jackson has arisen to successfully meet the present existing conditions.
At the recent Baltimore convention the representatives of the interests were present in large numbers; they held places on the delegations of several states and were liberally supplied with tainted money; they appeared for a time to be in control and actually succeeded in electing the temporary chairman; they looked forward to the time when they would name a candidate who, in the parlance of the "plunderers," was "safe and sane." At this stage in the proceedings the outlook, from the standpoint of the masses, appeared to be hopeless; but these representatives of the interests, by exposing the cloven foot so early in the game, overshot the mark; they seemed to have entirely ignored the fact that the State of Nebraska had a delegation in the convention headed by "the Peerless Leader," who opposed them in 1896, with sixteen years of added experience in handling emergencies similar to the one that had arisen in the convention. This able leader of the masses, seeing his opportunity, had the courage to take advantage of it and the result is history: slates were broken; the plunderers were overwhelmingly defeated and, it is confidently believed, that the candidate nominated by the convention and emphatically indorsed at the poles will meet every requirement as a true champion of the rights of the common people. All honor should be accorded to the mighty Nebraskan for this achievement; without his brilliant leadership the people were helpless and would again have been chained to the Juggernaut of the plutocratic plunderers instead of having the bright prospect of coming into full control of the machinery of their government on the fourth of March, 1913.
When the Democratic party comes into power in both the legislative and executive branches of the government, it will be confronted with some very difficult problems. For sixteen consecutive years the beneficiaries of the system have been in absolute control. They have financed every campaign of the successful political organization, and it is safe to assume that all appointments to important offices were made at the dictation of these plunderers of the people.
The evidence produced before the Pujol committee of the House of Representatives, now engaged in the investigation of the money trust, shows that the J. P. Morgan combine controls financial and industrial institutions with an aggregate capital of more than twenty-five billions of dollars, and Mr. Morgan himself admitted that directors of these various parts of the combine were not appointed against his protest. This is an exceedingly dangerous power for one man to wield; but this is the syndicate that has contributed the money to elect the last four administrations of the government; hence the conclusion that, if no officials of these vast interests are appointed against the protest of Mr. Morgan, no appointments would be made by an administration that owed its election to funds contributed by the Morgan interests, against his protest.

If these conclusions are correct, a progressive administration, pledged to safeguard the interests of the masses will find that in all the executive departments, the prominent positions are filled by persons accustomed to deal leniently with these combinations of wealth, and that many of them hold their places under the so-called civil service law. The voters have done their share by electing the President, a large majority in the House, and a safe Progressive majority in the Senate. The heads of the several departments, together with their assistants and the heads of the various bureaus, will be appointed by a Progressive President, but unless the surgeon's knife is freely used in the several bureaus, these Progressive heads will find themselves handicapped by organized rings of reactionaries controlling the several divisions that handle the different classes of the important work. Probably all of the important officials of the customs and internal revenue, in the field, were appointed at the dictation of the interests and it will require an intelligent weeding out of these tools of the trusts to bring the administration of these numerous places under the dominion of the friends of the masses. That President-elect Wilson has the courage and integrity of purpose to accomplish all these reforms and make this a government of, by and for the people is now an assured fact.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN ALMOST LOST BOUT WITH CARDIFF 26 YEARS AGO TONIGHT.

Five years before John L. Sullivan lost his title as the world's premier fighting man to Jim Corbett, he was saved from defeat and disaster only by his indomitable nerve and his ability to browbeat his opponents until the blood turned to water in their veins. Twenty-six years ago tonight the Old Roman faced Patsy Cardiff in Minneapolis in what was scheduled as a six-round bout. Cardiff was a great fighter, a finished boxer, a champion save only for the lack of courage and gameness. That night in the Minnesota metropolis he had the heavyweight championship of the world in his hands, but the beelling stare from the fierce eyes of the greatest of gladiators frightened him, and his fingers relaxed the clutch on the victory that was within his grasp. Early in the battle Sullivan broke the radius of his left arm. The injury caused excruciating pain, but the Old Roman made no sign. His lips were a little more compressed than usual, his glare more terrible, and the injured arm hung useless at his side. He fought on with his one good arm, and Cardiff thought John L. was but manifesting contempt, or thought that his left was but reserved for some terrible wallop when an opening came. Through the six rounds Cardiff showed greater fear of the "bum" left than of the good right. With more courage and aggressiveness he must soon have discovered John L.'s plight, and made short work of the champion of champions. Fear held him back and the opportunity was lost.

PART OF STRIKERS SATISFIED

New York, Jan. 18.—The strike of dress and shirtwaist makers, one of several trades involved in the garment workers' walkout, was settled at noon today and most of the 36,000 workers will return to work Monday.
The garment workers' strike proper continues with about 150,000 workers involved.
The terms of the agreement include a general increase in wages, shorter hours and a permanent system of arbitration. When the strikers learned that the advance in wages amounted to a maximum of ten per cent many of them declared they would not return to work, while the leaders pleaded with them to remain.

HANDS BURNING, ITCHING, DISFIGURED

Cracked and Swollen. Could Not Sleep. For 2 Years Nobody Could Cure His Eczema. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Completely Cured.

905 Lowell Place, Chicago, Ill.—"The trouble began by my hands burning and itching and I rubbed and scratched them till one day I saw little red sores coming out. My hands were disfigured and swollen, and troubled me so that I could not sleep. They were cracked and when the small sores broke a white matter would come out. I could not do any hard work; if I did the sores would come out worse."
"For two years nobody could cure my eczema, until one day I thought I would try the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used warm water with the Cuticura Soap and after that I put the Cuticura Ointment on my hands twice a day for about five or six months when I was completely cured." (Signed) Sam Marcus, Nov. 28, 1911.
Not only are Cuticura Soap and Ointment most valuable in the treatment of eczema and other distressing eruptions of skin and scalp, but so other conditions do so much for pimples, blackheads, red rough skin, itching, scaly scalp, dandruff, dry, itchy and falling hair, chapped hands and chapped heels, nor do it so economically. A single cake of Cuticura Soap (25c.) and box of Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are often sufficient when all else has failed. Sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Outside of the regular routine business one application for membership was required and the rank of Esquire was conferred on one page. The new officers put on the work in a splendid manner, which speaks well for the future. A number of the brothers are on the sick list, but none are thought to be seriously ill. It is the intention to confer the Esquire rank against next Tuesday evening. After the work the new entertainment committee served an appetizing lunch in the dining room. This was composed of which Geo. Sawyer is chairman, informed through the chancellor commander that they have something up their sleeve, but would not reveal it, and it behooves all of us to attend each meeting in order not to miss this good thing when it comes.

Newark Lodge, No. 13, K. of P. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, a large crowd came out Thursday night to see the work put on. Eighteen candidates were on hand for the Page rank. The lantern and views were used for the first time with the work and proved very impressive.
Nine new applications were received and read for the first time.
Five applications were read, balloted on and the applicants elected to membership by initiation. Next Thursday night the Esquire rank will be conferred upon this large class and it is expected that the next meeting night the Knight rank will be conferred.
As soon as the work is completed on this class, a still larger one will be commenced upon and taken through and it may be necessary to hold some special sessions, as some of the candidates are feeling anxious to be initiated and it is impossible to take so many through at one time.
Next Thursday night lodge will be opened at 7 o'clock, instead of 7:30, and the routine business will be disposed of as quickly as possible in order to get an early start with the degree work.
If you want to see a real live lodge in session, come out to these meetings. We always have a little something to eat and some cigars on hand and we will certainly make it interesting for you.

Roland Lodge, K. of P. The attendance last Tuesday evening was sufficient to justify the officers and active members of No. 305 in looking forward to large meetings in the future. The evening was especially for the members taken in during the past year, and a large number of these new Knights were present. Some could not be present on account of sickness, and several were out of the city. A feature that attracted much attention was the words "The Boys of 1912," in huge letters placed on the floor in front of the chancellor commander's station. The letters were cut out of cardboard and were neat and artistic, being the work of Roland's youngest member, David S. Gettings.

HOSPITAL PLANS ACCEPTED; WILL RECEIVE TENDERS
Approval of the plans submitted by Architect Frank L. Packard for the new hospital marked the session of the trustees, held in the Franklin National Bank Friday evening. It was decided to advertise at once for bids, and February 25th was set as the date for opening of the tenders. Under these conditions it is believed that the hospital will be ready for formal dedication by January, 1914, although this would require constant and energetic work by the various contractors. No mention was made at the session of the recent opposition to the hospital site, the trustees showing no desire to obstruct public will by the consideration of any other location.

Canal Land Deeds Recorded.
The most important realty deal handled in the office of County Recorder J. M. Farmer on Saturday was the recording of the deeds for the abandoned canal property which was bought from the state by The Canal Land company, the local syndicate.

Two deeds were recorded, the first conveying the land in 16 parcels from the state to J. A. Flory, trustee. This deed bears the Great Seal of Ohio and is signed by ex-Governor John W. Harmon, Secretary of State Graves and Attorney General Timothy Hogan.

The second deed for a $1 consideration conveys the land from J. A. Flory to Phoebe Flory to The Canal Land company.

Common Pleas Court.
The case of Annie Gorman v. James McCarthy, as director of public service, was argued and submitted in common pleas court on Saturday on a demurrer to the petition. Plaintiff says that she is a taxpayer of the City of Newark, that McCarthy is the duly appointed, qualified and acting director of public service of the City of Newark.

She says that she demanded of Rodger Jones, City Solicitor, that he bring this suit, which he, the Solicitor, refused to do. Plaintiff says that in May, 1912, the city established, by ordinance, what is called the public dumping ground of the city for depositing rubbish, etc. at that place. That, by ordinance, the director of public service was empowered and directed to enter into a contract for the use of the real estate described in the ordinance as a public dumping ground. Plaintiff says that she demanded of defendant that he execute said contract, which the director refused to do. She says that she has always been willing to enter into said agreement.

A writ of mandamus is asked requiring the signing of the contract on the part of defendant.

Winter & Smilie v. E. T. Rugg & Co., heretofore assigned for trial Tuesday. Submitted to court and judgment for plaintiff.

Edward Crawford v. George Kirk passed from the assignment by reason of sickness of material witness.

Homer L. Simpson v. C. V. Lake, et al., and five other cases, viz.: Wise v. Lake, McKelland v. Lake, Lillard v. Lake, Allison v. Lake and Wise v. Lake, passed from the assignment. To be re-assigned.

'Squire Horton's Court.
On the affidavit of May Thompson, filed in the court of 'Squire George W. Horton, Roy Cole has been bound over to the grand jury.

The affidavit filed against Cole is to the effect that late in December he made an assault on May Thompson.

The bond in the case was set at the sum of $200.

Corning, N. Y., Jan. 19.—As an undertaker was preparing to embalm a body today, Harry Brinkman, of Uxbridge, Pa., shook off his shroud, straightened up in bed and asked for breakfast. Brinkman, who has been dead a long time, was found dead by the family. After two hours' effort to arouse him they decided it was useless to call a physician and he was summoned the undertaker.

THE BEGINNING OF IMPORTANT LEGISLATION

Never in the history of the commonwealth were so many big bills of state-wide interest introduced in the first week of a session of the general assembly.

Some executives, anxious to avoid conflicts with powerful interests that are always most active in their opposition when big measures are pending, exerted their influence toward suppressing important measures, but Governor Cox worked along different lines. The large list of important bills now pending before the law-making body of the state represents, in a large measure, the vigorous and efficient endeavors of the new Governor during the first week of his administration.

Among the more important are: A joint resolution for the ratification of the amendment to the federal constitution providing for the direct election of United States Senators was introduced and promptly adopted by both houses.

In addition there were introduced measures providing for civil service for the state, county, city and city school district employees, the recall of public officers, the short ballot, the curbing of lobbyists, the return of verdicts by 9 instead of 12 jurymen as authorized by a constitutional amendment and mothers' pensions.

In addition both the "wets" and "drys", so-called, have bills pending providing for the licensing of the liquor traffic. The ideas of the administration will be incorporated into one of these.

Plenty of evidence has been given by Governor Cox during his first week's work that his administration will be one of deeds, not words.

Kansas has a new sensation, due to the fact that she has the first Democratic Governor for thirty years.

The higher education is producing its effects. The college girls won't marry on less than $10,000 a year.

If grim war could present a genuinely humorous phrase those "naval battles" at the Dardanelles would be real jokes.

The suggestion that the next President will go outside of his party to make appointments is merely intended to throw a scare into the Democrats.

Rheumatism
Is A Constitutional Disease.
It manifests itself in local aches and pains, inflamed joints and stiff muscles—but it cannot be cured by local applications.
It requires constitutional treatment, and the best is a course of the great blood purifying and tonic medicine which corrects the acid condition of the blood and builds up the system.
Hood's Sarsaparilla
Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

"Mr." Munsey advocates a holding company to take over the assets of the Republican party and the Progressive party with a view to overcoming the Democratic party. He does not say whether the charter of the United States Steel Corporation or that of the Harvester Trust is the better for the purpose, but if there is to be any dispute about it "Mr." Munsey and Perkins can no doubt arrange the matter without resort to the courts.

There's a note in an eagle's scream that can't be mistaken. No one has ventured to call Governor Wilson's farewell message to the New Jersey Legislature a "swan song."

If hostilities should be resumed the Balkan war there would probably be no spectacular fighting such as characterized the earlier stages of the conflict. The allies would merely continue to sit tight before Adrianople, Scutaria and Janina, and wait for the inevitable capitulation of these places through hunger and the exhaustion of ammunition. On the Tcherajia lines the Bulgarians would most likely maintain a defensive policy, having nothing to gain by a forward movement. By this time they must have made their positions impregnable to a frontal attack, and there is no point from which the Turks could make a flanking movement, even assuming that their army has been reorganized as to be capable of taking the aggressive; and there is little reason to believe that this is the case.

It is believed in Washington that Chairman Pujos's physician found William Rockefeller too ill to appear as a witness. This ought to have been shown six months ago. No name in Congress or out would desire him subjected to an interrogation at the hands of the committee if his health is in a serious condition. But he had no right to hide from the process servers of the House of Representatives, to employ guards to keep them off his premises and to flee the country.

In its finding that a Working men's Compensation law would give the best assurance of a general compliance with the laws respecting factories and safety appliances the Industrial Accidents Commission corroborates the prevalent opinion. A system that will make it directly and immediately expensive to the employer to be careless, . . . while its rewards for vigilant care would be prompt and certain, would be bound to make the adoption of all precautionary measures the rule. When "the relation between care and money profits is plain . . . the interposition of no premium assessing official is required," and the interposition of fining and penalizing officials would become increasingly necessary.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.
Exercise.
The best kind of exercise is the kind that makes you forget that you are exercising—in other words, play, says a physician. It's a good scheme to have some more or less strenuous game for a hobby—golf or bowling or tennis or archery—anything that appeals to you and affords exercise with interest. But this is not saying that systematic exercise is not a good thing too.

Titles of honor do have a tendency to create a favored class, and therefore are out of place in a democratic community. Titles survive in France, but that country, while a Republic, is not a democracy. The tradition of monarchy and nobility there dies out rather slowly, but it cannot continue in definitely. A member of the Canadian Parliament has introduced a bill to discourage the use of titles on the ground that the Dominion is a Democracy and titles are not appropriate to it. There is nothing in a democracy hostile to honoring men for their achievements, but hereditary titles are certainly not in keeping with Democratic ideas.

Representative Warnes Honored
(Holmes Co. Farmer)
By the assignment of committees, Tuesday, by Speaker Swan, of the Ohio legislature, the chairman of each of the several committees was made public. Representative Warnes of Holmes county was made chairman of the committee on constitutional amendments and initiative and referendum, the big committee of the house, and was also appointed a member of two other committees, which is evidence that he is looked upon as one of the most valuable members of the body.

MUCH TROUBLE OVER NEWARK'S POST OFFICE

Messrs. Charles W. Miller and Harry P. Scott returned yesterday from Washington, where they visited the state department regarding the proposed federal building site in Newark. They were able to accomplish little, but learned that the department having these matters in charge had experienced more trouble over the Newark postoffice than any other problem. No conclusion has been reached by the department and the Newark men received no assurance as to the time when the matter would be settled. The decision of the department's representative who visited Newark several months ago, that the site in First street was too small, has stopped the proceedings, and until this matter is settled, the question is at a standstill.

WILSON AVOIDS TALK OF CABINET "Pilgrims" Who Are Called by Mim Learn Little.

HE LISTENS AND QUESTIONS

Absence of Bryan's Name From Conference Creates Theory That the Commemorative Selection or Rejection is Already Made—Wilson, Like Other Presidents, Dislikes Opposition.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.
Washington, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—"What does Woodrow tell the pilgrims?" That is a question which is frequently asked by Democrats who have not been invited to become "pilgrims," as the prominent people who are called to Trenton are termed. The answer is that Governor Wilson is a listener and a questioner rather than a teller. He tells them, naughtily little, and they come back without much knowledge as to what he is going to do. After the different conferences the governor tells the newspaper men that they did not discuss Mr. Bryan. "And I might add," remarked a returning "pilgrim," "that the position of secretary of state in the cabinet was not discussed." Rather interesting that, indicating that the president elect has about made up his mind on the subject of Bryan and the premiership.

Like All Presidents.
It appears that Woodrow Wilson is like all other presidents in at least one respect—he does not like to have men differ with him. The man with advice contrary to what he thinks is not very welcome. The man who tells him he is wrong—well, that kind of man had better keep away from Trenton. Roosevelt disliked the men who differed with him, and Taft had still greater aversion for those who told him unpleasant truths. The next president is going to be a mighty nice man to get along with for those who agree with him. So say the "pilgrims."

Who but Wilson Men?
"Who except Wilson men, those who supported Wilson before the convention, have been mentioned as cabinet possibilities?" That was the question which a prominent western Democrat asked me the other day. Well, there were at that time the names of Bryan, Brandeis, Senator Garfield, Josephus Daniels, Burleson, Mitchell Palmer, Governor Burke, McCombs, McAdoo and perhaps one or two others who seemed like cabinet possibilities. "It looks to me," he added, "as if there were not going to be many cabinet members who were not Wilson men from the beginning."

Fort Dodge's Fame.
Mrs. Kenyon, wife of the Iowa senator, is a resident of Fort Dodge, a town on the Des Moines river. When she told an acquaintance that fact not long ago he remarked, "Fort Dodge is famous for—"
"For the Cardiff giant," interposed Mrs. Kenyon.
"No, for being the head of navigation on the Des Moines river," was the reply. "Once a little steamboat during a spring freshet went up the Des Moines river as far as Fort Dodge. At present Keokuk, at the mouth of the river, is the head of its navigation."
"Well, that is nothing compared to the Cardiff giant," replied Mrs. Kenyon. "They made the giant at Fort Dodge and exhibited it all over the country and made a great deal of money out of it too."

Weather and Watches.
Nearly all the senators go into the little weather station at the senate wing and see what kind of weather Willis Moore has given their states each day. And nearly every one of them stops to see how near his watch is keeping to the naval observatory time. For a time each day weather and watches get more attention than the senate proceedings.

Ways to Skin a Cat.
"There's more than one way to skin a cat," is a saying of boys who find methods of doing things or of not doing things. So with the United States senate. It was in a tangle because it had agreed to vote on the Kenyon liquor bill on Jan. 21. If the bill passed the senate on that date it might have had time to pass the house and become a law. So there was a deal of sparring, a great deal of talk about senatorial courtesy, and finally, after much maneuvering, the senate agreed to vote on the bill Feb. 10.

At that time there will be such a crowding of congressional business that the Kenyon liquor bill will be lost in the shuffle. It will die, as have all measures of a similar character. It will have the vote, but it will not be given the consideration.

Will Move Slowly.
No one is going to rush the Republican party into organization, judging from what the leaders in Washington say. They are in no need of a reorganization, as they all say. They believe that if the Democrats make mistakes there will be a movement toward the G. O. P. which will cause disintegration of the Progressives as a party. "There can be three or more parties in this country all progressive," remarked former senator Long of Kansas, which is rather true in view of the fact that three organizations in politics all declare themselves as the real progressives at the present time.

In taking an ocean trip some people can't even keep down their expenses.

AGED FARMER SUCCUMBS TO THE MEASLES

Simon Haas, a well known and prosperous farmer residing two and a half miles south of Utica, died Saturday morning after a ten days' illness with the measles. Mr. Haas, although past seventy years of age has enjoyed excellent health nearly all his life. He stated that when a mere lad he fought off an attack of measles and contracting them so late in life made it doubly hard to fight the disease. Mr. Haas is survived by his wife, a son and a daughter.
No funeral arrangements have been made.

FIRST THINGS

DETROIT'S BEGINNING.
The first municipal government in Detroit was instituted 111 years ago today, when the struggling village of thousand souls was incorporated as a city. Detroit was first settled by Antoine Cadillac, with 50 soldiers and 50 artisans and traders, in 1701 and was called by the French, "La Ville d'Etroit." In 1760 the English flag replaced the banner of France over the rude wilderness settlement. In 1763 the Indians under Pontiac laid siege to the town and the invasion continued for a year. In 1774 Detroit and its dependent territory was incorporated with Canada. At the close of the American revolution there was an exodus of English settlers to Canada, and Detroit's population fell from 2000 to less than 500. In 1825 its population was only 1500, but the opening of the Erie canal sent a tide of immigration westward, and ever since each passing decade has witnessed a remarkable growth of the Michigan metropolis.
The first regular mail service between the United States and Canada was established 116 years ago today.

A Girl's Wild Midnight Ride.

To warn people of a fearful forest fire in the Catskills a young girl rode horseback at midnight and saved many lives. Her deed was glorious but lives are often saved by Dr. King's New Discovery in curing lung trouble, coughs and colds which might have ended in consumption or pneumonia. "It cured me of a dreadful cough and lung disease," writes W. R. Patterson, Wellington, Tex., "after four in our family had died with consumption, and I gained $7 pounds." Nothing so sure and safe for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by F. D. Hall.

DARK DAYS.

There's nothing doing at the park, the bleachers all are bare, the grandstand's empty, cold and dark, no fans are yelling there. Where are the lads, the gifted lads, who lately played the game, and thereby gathered in the seats, and wreathed themselves with fame? Where are the men who brought disrepute to foes, and won the goal? Ah, some are writing for the press their dreary rigmarole; which rigmarole, all full of "I's," gives mankind clammy thrills; the baseball lads, if they were wise, would throw away their quills. And some are doing monologues upon the weary stage; attired in circus actors' togs, they earn their winter wage; their monologues are full of "I's," and also full of "me's"; and hearers say, with heart-telt sighs, that something smells of cheese. And some are wrangling loud and long, with energy and fire, one says that t'other did him wrong, and t'other calls him lyre. And thus themselves they advertise, as busily as bees, with endless jabs of big fat "I's" and wagonloads of "me's." Oh, I'll be glad when spring is here, for then the players all will quit their capers strange and queer, and play the game of ball.

Old Brer Groundhog and St. Swithin the weather sharps has been bitterly attacked by the nuckrakers, who allege that his predictions are "not worth shucks," but statistics do not join by the recent activities of an "inertinent poacher on their preserves, one Willis Luther Moore, chief of the United States Weather Bureau. Prof. Moore got his start in life at Scranton, Pa., just fifty-seven years ago today, January 18, 1856. The weather is always and everywhere a faithful topic of conversation, but most people can, when occasion demands, talk of something else. His first remark says Scranton old-timers, touched on and ascertained to meteorological conditions, and he has been at it ever since, except for a brief space when, a lad of eight, he joined his father, with Grant's army at City Point, and sold papers to the soldiers in the field. Even then, it is related, his cry was "Wuxtry! All about the weather!"

Medicine Hat used to be considered the source of all the weather prevailing on the North American continent, out of late years the Alberta city has had a worthy rival in Washington, D. C., owing to the activities of Prof. Moore. The eminent meteorologist was educated at the Binghamton, N. Y., public schools, and then spent 15 years studying weather under the scientific staff of the Weather Bureau. He then entered the signal corps the predecessor of the present Weather Bureau, and in 1891 was given the job of forecasting what sort of weather might be expected in Chicago and vicinity. He made good, and four years later was appointed chief of the United States Weather Bureau. All official statements to the contrary, Prof. Moore and his assistants have performed a work of immense value to the agricultural and maritime interests of the United States, and to those of Canada, Mexico and the West Indies as well. 4% OLD HOME
Olga Nethersole, who, a decade ago, was numbered among the greatest actresses of the English-speaking stage, was born in Kensington, London, some years ago today. That this is the anniversary of Miss Nethersole's birth all authorities agree, but as to the year there is a decided difference of opinion, the guesses ranging from 1863 to 1870. Her father came of an old Kentish family, while her mother was of Spanish descent. She began her artistic career as a member of a barnstorming company that toured the English "provinces." Her first London appearance was in "The Union Jack" at the Adelphi Theatre. After a tour of Australia and several seasons in London, Miss Nethersole made her American debut at New York in 1894. In 1902 she produced "Sappho" in New York, and was given much tree advertising by the police, who threatened to stop the production.

The Coterie club held its annual banquet and guest night at the home of Mrs. Samuel Brooks in Buckingham street last evening and it proved to be one of the most enjoyable events in the club's history. During the courses toasts were responded to, the hostess, Mrs. Brooks, extending the courteous and cordial welcome of the club to their guests.

Following the dinner a varied program was presented consisting of music, select readings by Mrs. W. S. Seymour and Mrs. F. P. Making Married Life Interesting

I WAS reading," said the young married woman, "that in a little town in England, a prize is given every year to the couple who can take an affidavit that they have never, during the course of the year, spoken a harsh word to each other. This year, a reporter interviewed the couple and asked them if they had been very happy by living the whole year without a harsh or unkind word."

"It was all right," the woman is said to have replied, "but devilish dull."

The little crowd laughed.

The young married woman looked slightly surprised.

"But I didn't tell it to be funny," she protested. "I meant isn't it a queer idea to think you have to disagree in order not to be dull?"

"You know what Emerson says," observed one of the women.

"No. What?"

"That it is better to be a thorn in the flesh of a friend than an echo."

"Yes," said the young married woman, reflectively. "A person who simply echoes all your opinions would be an awful bore. But surely one can argue pleasantly without saying harsh things."

"Maybe you could if you weren't married," said one of the women.

"But when married people get to arguing, or for that matter, any member of the family, they usually get into personalities and caustic remarks, before they finish."

"Well, if they can't argue," rejoined the young married woman, smiling, "there are plenty of opportunities for whimsical humor or funny remarks and things like that, to keep life bright and interesting."

"But perhaps your husband does not appreciate your brand of humor," observed the cynically inclined one again. "For you his. And when that's the case, there is trouble right off. Nothing is more provocative of unkind remarks than trying to be funny in a way the other does not appreciate."

"I'm afraid you'd never win the prize," said the young married woman.

"There wasn't a grand rush for it, was there?" inquired the other.

"No. Still I'll never agree that the only way to relieve dullness is to quarrel. I'd rather be dull."

"Oh, no you wouldn't," rejoined the other woman who seemed to be spokesman for the crowd. "Deadly monotony in married life is the most awful horrible existence imaginable. A quarrel stirs you up all over. You think about it all day, and go backward and forward in your mind over all your arguments, and when you finally do make up and the atmosphere clears there is a sense of exhilaration and life, as if you had had a grand jamboree of some kind."

The crowd laughed.

"All the same," said the young married woman, "I propose to keep life bright and interesting by other methods than quarreling. I think that belongs to the age when women were not supposed to have any brains. Now that she is a thinking and voting creature, she ought to be able to solve the problem of monotony in marriage by some more up-to-date method than disagreements."

"Well, good luck to you," said the other. "If you win next year's prize, let us know."

Daddy's Bedtime Story

A Lunch Counter For the Bushy Tail Family

Mr. Bushy Tail Had a Bushy Tail

OUTSIDE the snow was beginning to fall—not much, to be sure, out enough to start Jack to talking of his sled and Evelyn to wondering whether she ought not to wear her new pink hood to school on the morning.

"The north wind doth blow, and we shall have snow, and what will poor robin do then, poor thing?" hummed daddy.

"What will poor robin do?" asked the children.

"I don't know unless some little boys and girls start a lunch counter on the lawn, as two I know of did last year."

"Oh, of course, we are going to feed the birdies this winter!" answered Evelyn.

"We had such fun last year. We learned a lot about birds, and Jack got some lovely pictures with his little camera."

"One day as I came through the woods wearing my magic glasses and my magic cap," said daddy, "I heard Mr. and Mrs. Bushy Tail chattering up in the treetops."

"The Bushy Tails are a family of nice gray squirrels who live in an oak tree near a spring in the woods. They had the most charming family of young ones this spring."

"As I passed their tree Mr. Bushy Tail had just run down for a beechnut and was cracking it in his strong teeth."

"I hope we shall not have many deep snows this year," Mrs. Bushy Tail murmured. "Do you remember, Mr. Bushy Tail, what a hard time we had last year digging up our nuts when the ground was frozen and covered with deep snow? I do hope those nice children will have their lunch counter for us again this year."

"What was that, mother?" one of the little Bushy Tails asked.

"It was a nice bench in front of a house, and on that bench the children who lived in the house placed nuts and other goodies for us. One day there was a delicious piece of chocolate. I enjoyed it so much."

"This is your first winter in the woods, my children, and so, of course you can't know how hard it is to get to the nut cellars in a storm and how painful it is to dig into them when the ground is covered with ice."

"Goodies!" cried the young Bushy Tails. "I wish Jack and Evelyn would have a lunch counter of that kind. The chickadees and buntings have told us what good meals those children gave them last winter."

"Perhaps they will," Mrs. Bushy Tail said. "They gathered quantities of nuts off our trees this fall, and it's only fair they should divide with us."

"We will, daddy; we will!" cried the children.

MRS. G. A. WARRINGTON.

Our Father, who art in heaven, called home one of the most blessed and beloved ones of his flock, Mrs. G. A. Warrington, after being an invalid for 38 years, and during that time has reared one of the most highly esteemed families of this city. She was dearly loved by all who ever came in touch with her.

She leaves to mourn her death a husband, Mr. G. A. Warrington, four sons, O. G. of Hudson avenue, W. E. of Cherry street, M. B. of Bolton avenue, and Evan, and five daughters, Mrs. A. E. Stiles of Bolton avenue, the Misses Addie, Ella, Nora and Dollie, all of the home, and Mrs. Pearl Cameron, who preceded her to the grave; thirteen grandchildren and two sister, Mrs. Elmer Sutton and Mrs. Henry Foster, also survive, with three brothers.

Mrs. Warrington was a devoted member of the Baptist church since the age of 16, at Welsh Hills, until coming to Newark 21 years ago, and has since then entered her letter of introduction to the Woodside church where she attended regularly as her health would allow.

She was married to Mr. George Warrington Jan. 17, 1873. Those who met and greeted her at the Lyon tabernacle will be sorry to learn of her death.

RACHEL P. CALLENTINE.

Mrs. Rachel P. Callettine, aged 35 years, wife of C. D. Callettine, a B. & O. engineer, died at 2:40 o'clock Saturday morning at the City Hospital, after an eight days' illness of intestinal obstruction. She was at the hospital but 12 hours. Mrs. Callettine was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Weaver, and was born in Knox county. She came to Newark from Coshocton. The body will be taken to Coshocton Sunday morning for funeral and interment.

MRS. EMMA DRUMM.

The funeral of Mrs. Emma Drumm, who died Friday morning at 10 o'clock, will be held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at her late home in North street. The funeral party will accompany the body to Shannon cemetery, near Clay Lick, for interment.

ANDREW W. SKILES.

Andrew William Skiles, aged 55 years, proprietor of the Commercial Hotel in South Fifth street, died at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock, after a brief illness. He has been a sufferer for several years from asthma and heart trouble and these complications caused his death. Mr. Skiles was born at Walton, W. Va. He came to Newark six years ago. He is survived by his wife and three daughters. The latter are Mrs. J. J. Herbst of Cincinnati, and Misses Hilda and Margaret Skiles, living at home. He also leaves one brother, N. H. Skiles of Blaine, Ohio, and two sisters, Mrs. Walter Branch and Mrs. John Glover of Middleport.

Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed, but the services will be conducted from St. Francis de Sales church, with Rev. Fr. O'Boylan officiating.

COMMUNICATED

POINTED ANSWER FROM RODERIC JONES

Editor Advocate: Someone (?) suggested to the editor of the American Tribune that he inquire why I, as City Solicitor, do not haunt the police court, as the said supposed someone alleges I ought to do as a matter of official duty.

Section 4508 of the General Code provides that the City Solicitor shall NOT be required to prosecute any action before the mayor for the violation of an ordinance without first advising such action. As 90 per cent of the cases in the mayor's court are for violation of an ordinance and as I am never previously consulted, as there is no reason why I should be, I am under no obligation to look after them.

What state cases there are, where the accused does not simply waive examination, are all at my request continued over until 2 o'clock p. m. by the mayor and heard at his court in the Trust Building, or at his office, and I have always appeared for the state in these matters. The result is that in every important case where a contest is made, the mayor has had official legal advice, for the first time since the city government was instituted.

I shall not adopt the suggestion of this anonymous and imaginary inquirer of the editor and ask the council for $300 in addition for prosecuting cases in the police court, as there is no necessity for it and any use of the taxpayers' money for that purpose would be plain grafting.

Very sincerely yours,
RODERIC JONES,
City Solicitor.

JUSTICE COURTS ARE OVERCROWDED WITH LITIGATION

That Newark produces ample litigation to occupy the full time of two justices of the peace is made clear by an examination of the civil and criminal dockets in the courts of Squire George W. Horton and Squire D. M. Jones.

Both courts are pushed almost to the limit in the effort to dispose of the business brought before them in an expeditious manner.

After a serious illness, Squire Horton returned to the duties of his office about a month ago and during the past four weeks over 50 cases, civil and criminal, have been brought to him for disposition.

One of the more interesting of the cases was that in which Carl Hickey, who lives east of Newark, was brought to the court on the affidavit of Rolfe Ford, who charged Hickey with cutting Samuel J. Ford with intent to wound.

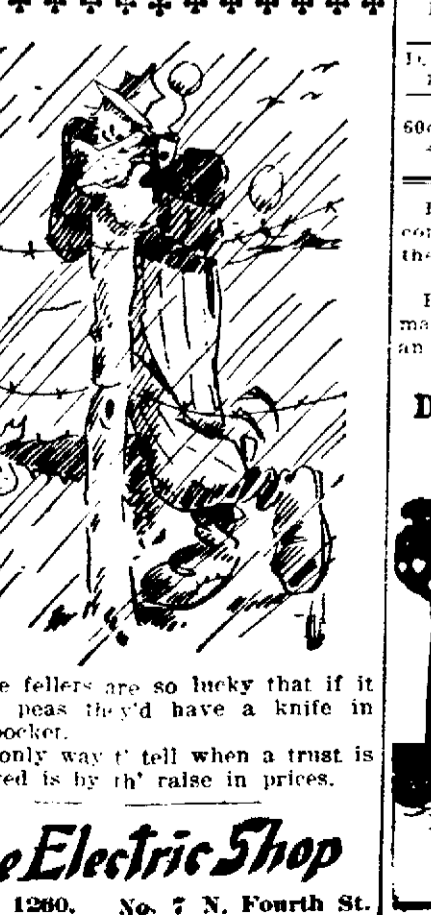

The case was tried before Squire Horton last week and over fifteen witnesses from the Hanover vicinity were in attendance.

At the conclusion of the case Hickey was bound over to the grand jury under a bond of $200.

LAST NIGHT'S PLAY.
The Blial-Tobin players presented Duma's masterpiece, "Monte Cristo," at the Auditorium last night to a good sized audience. What the crowd lacked in size they made up in enthusiasm for this good old play was very capably presented. Mr. Clarke in the leading role of Edmund Dantes carried off the honors and he was well supported by the balance of the company. The scenic effects carried by the company added greatly to the value of the production. The company will close their engagement tonight with a splendid presentation of a western comedy by Rex Beach and Paul Armstrong called "Going Some." This play was presented in all the larger cities of the country two seasons ago and met with much favor. It had a long run at the Lyric theatre, New York City, under the direction of the Shuberts and was pronounced one of the very best western comedies ever written. The Blial-Tobin players have not met with the success they deserve this week, owing to the very bad weather, but should they ever return and be favored with good weather, they will meet with a succession of big houses.

TOMORROW AT THE AUDITORIUM.
A most excellent program of photoplays has been arranged for tomorrow afternoon and evening at the Auditorium. Judging from the immense crowds which thronged this popular playhouse last Sunday it will be well to get there early in order to be sure of seats. The long program of specially selected subjects, two picture machines, excellent music and a large, comfortable playhouse seem to make the Auditorium the most popular amusement place in the city.

KIRK BROWN COMES SOON.
Mr. Kirk Brown, the most popular male star that ever visited Newark, and his wonderfully clever stock company will be seen at the Auditorium the week of February 3, presenting "The Wife," "Brown of Harvard," "Raffles," "The Christian," "The Two Orphans," "Merlet of Venice," "Oliver Twist," "Othello," "The Typhoon," and "Northern Lights." Mr. Brown is supported by talented Margaret Fields and a splendid company. Matinees will be given daily.

Experience of "The Pink Lady" Company En Tour.
Genial John Daly, manager of the "Pink Lady" Company, was recently visited for a few days by Edward L. Moore of the Auditorium and as a natural consequence traveled with "The Pink Lady" Company on their special train, the same as the other Bohemians of the organization. It was certainly an experience to hear him talk about it. He met the company at Charlotte, N. C., and his first trip "a la special train" was to Columbia, S. C.

The "special train" is the seat of an almost pure democracy. Once inside the car doors the chief comedian and the leading ladies are on a par with the members of the chorus. For everybody on the car has a nickname, and so far as the stars are concerned, these nicknames are never heard outside of the car. Thus Alfred Deery is "Scissors" to everybody on the car, but outside of its sacred precincts he is Mr. Deery to everybody below the rank of principal.

As soon as the train starts then the actors commence to "have fun" with the conductor. The manager of the company usually has a "party ticket," which calls for the transportation of a certain number of people. Immediately the train starts, the conductor begins to count up the people, to see that no more than the right number are aboard, and the actors usually make it as hard as possible for him. They hide in the smoker or dining car and keep on a continual tramp from one car to another, with no other object than to confuse the man with brass buttons and force him to make a second or third count. The wise theatrical manager figures when he starts out that he is dealing with a lot of grown-up children and acts accordingly.

By the time the conductor has finished his count the men of the company have usually started the principal business of the day, which, sad to relate, is almost always a game of poker. In large companies four or five games may be under way at the same time, the limit varying from ten cents to one dollar, to accommodate pocketbooks of various the kid, with young Berkeley Haswell in the stellar role, will be the attraction at the Auditorium on Friday, January 24.

"MUTT AND JEFF."
"Mutt and Jeff," a real comedy with real music, the kind you like to hear and the sort you'll whistle on the way home—comes to the Auditorium Saturday matinee and evening, Feb. 1. Gus Hill sends the big two-car show sizes. The women of the company, as a rule, do not play, though there are exceptions to this rule, as many a man can testify to his exceeding sorrow for a woman poker player is usually a good one. But most of the women after the train starts, busy themselves with needlework or reading.

Some of them get out their cameras, ready for shots at good subjects, as the train runs along or stops at way stations. And at almost every stop a number of people are sure to jump out and see what can be found to eat at the station eating houses. Some really astonishing appetites are developed in the ranks of a musical company on the road.

Sooner or later one of the poker games breaks up and then a little knot is certain to gather and start singing. It has often been said that theatrical people never sing so well as they do when it is for their own amusement. These impromptu and volunteer "sings" are the despair of the musical directors, who are never able to get such good results on the stage.

Actors are traditionally jealous people, quick to take offense at their colleagues and likely to carry their zinger to absurd extremes. But on a special car on the road they are thrown so closely together that many personal difficulties are patched up between one-night stands.

"BILLY THE KID."
Among all the popular price attractions on the road this season few have met with the reception that has been accorded the favorite play of the western players, Billy the Kid. The scenes of the play are laid in the great Far West and it shows Billy and his father and mother living a quiet life. Accompanied by his famous horse, Silver Horse, that was formerly the property of the outlaw Tra V. Bill with forty-five clever people, singers, dancers and comedians, including twenty-five cute little girls, half of them "squabs." A magnificent scenic production, including the steamship "Insurgent" in South American waters will be seen—not forgetting "Mutt and Jeff," the imitable laugh producers, who are constantly in evidence except when a breathing spell is absolutely necessary, then a catchy musical number is introduced to prevent convulsions. The reason for the extraordinary success of Gus Hill's unique comedy is evident to the audience before the play has been under way for five minutes. Don't miss Mutt and Jeff.

ABORN ENGLISH OPERA CO.
After each winter season of the Metropolitan, Boston, Chicago-Philadelphia Opera companies the several Aborn English Grand Opera companies have followed those organizations in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, Chicago, Baltimore and Washington for a supplementary season. Recently the taste for standard and grand opera has spread from those operatic centers to other cities all over America, and consequently there are five Aborn companies on tour this season, all of which will return as usual next spring for their annual series of from two to twenty weeks in each of the cities above mentioned. Two of the organizations now on tour under the Aborn management are presenting a repertoire of grand opera in English, including "Carmen" and "Lucia di Lammermoor." Two other Aborn companies are offering one opera only, Balfe's "The Bohemian Girl" and a fifth is presenting a revival of Planquette's popular opera comique, "The Children of Normandy." The Aborn English opera company will appear at the Auditorium January 26 and the selection of the operas to be presented will be announced later.

TO THE PUBLIC.
It is with extreme pleasure and a great deal of pride that I announce the appearance at the Auditorium on Thursday evening, January 23, of Klaw and Erlanger's international musical triumph, "The Pink Lady." I wish to impress on the minds of Newark theatre-goers that it is a very difficult proposition for an attraction of this calibre to be secured for a small one night stand theatre and it was only by offering Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger a very liberal guarantee that General Manager Edward L. Moore was enabled to book this immense production. As nearly everyone familiar with theatres knows, Klaw and Erlanger are the heads of the theatrical business of America and any attraction booked by them must be a decidedly good one and thoroughly up to the minute.

"The Pink Lady" comes here with exactly the same great cast and wonderful scenic production that has characterized its phenomenal business in all the largest cities of this country and Newark playgoers certainly ought to congratulate themselves on being given an opportunity of witnessing this performance, this city being one of six cities in Ohio to play the attraction. The seat sale will open Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock with the following scale of prices: Lower floor, $2.00 and $1.50; balcony, $1.50, $1.00 and 75c. No telephone orders will be taken and no seats held unless paid for. Mail orders with money enclosed received now. If "The Pink Lady" is greeted by a capacity house here, Klaw and Erlanger have promised to send several more of their very best attractions to the Auditorium. I trust the theatre-goers of Newark and vicinity will show their appreciation of our efforts by a very liberal patronage, to this, the largest attraction ever sent to this city.

F. E. JOHNSON, Manager Auditorium.

HARRY HOLLIDAY WITH MRS. FISKE.

Harry Holliday, now with Mrs. Fiske, is "Professor Holliday" off the stage, as he is perhaps the best known player of church chimes in America. Hundreds of thousands heard him play the chimes in Machinery Hall during the World's Fair and when he is in New York his services are constantly in demand at Old Trinity and at St. Patrick's cathedral. These are the finest in America and during the Hudson-Fulton celebration, under Mr. Holliday's expert handling, they were one of the features of that great festival.

"The High Road," the title of Mrs. Fiske's highly successful play, comes from the old Scotch ballad, "Loch Lomond," the words being taken from the couplet, which reads:

"Ye'll take the high road, and I'll take the low road,
And I'll be in Scotland afore ye."

"BABY MINE."

"Baby Mine," Margaret Mavo's enormously funny comedy, which comes to the Auditorium in the near future, enjoys a record of one hundred years at Daly's theatre, New York. "Baby Mine" is said to be without any suggestive dialogue or scenes, depending entirely upon sparkling wit and humor as mirth provoking elements. It is a play to make the cares of the day steal away silently. If you are a tired business man go and see "Baby Mine" and take your wife with you, it will do her a world of good, you both will feel five years younger by the end of the evening. William A. Brady, Ltd., under whose management the attraction visits us, will send a carefully selected company to interpret the various parts, including J. A. Bliss, Nannon Welch, Eda VonBuelow and William Courneen from the original New York production.

THE ORPHEUM.
Lady Minstrels at the Orpheum all next week starting Monday matinee. Stewart and Raymond present their lady minstrels and ladies brass band, which will furnish selections before each performance. The company carries their own special scenery for each act of the play and there will be a change of program on Thursday.

Many of the latest song hits will be introduced, also some very fine dances. Miss Celest Gee, one of the dancing beauties, has many new features to offer.

Miss Julia Baker also has many new styles of dances and many feature comedy songs. There will be many electrical effects all through the play—Music, Songs, Girls, Scenery, Dancing and Chorus numbers will make up the big feature program. Don't miss it.

Thought for the last time you will see Russell and Clark, the singing comedians, Hyde and Talbot in their rural sketch nothing but comedy. Buck Ferguson, the newest and best dancer of the day, Eberhardt, Dutton and Lady Eberhardt, the wonder of the age in her line, the smallest lady underponder in the business, the big feature. Don't miss it.

There are as many different kinds of fame as there are faces, but they all leave you with a big lead.

It's an easy matter to make a mountain out of a molehill. But some of us don't care for the mountains.

"The Pink Lady" Will Be a Real Treat

In their captivating international musical comedy hit "The Pink Lady," which is to be seen here for one performance at the Auditorium Thursday, January 23, Klaw & Erlanger will present on this occasion the biggest and happiest presentation it has been their good fortune to introduce to American and foreign theatre-goers.

It comes here as new and bright as if it had just been turned out and yet it has the force behind it of the most phenomenal runs ever registered in New York and in Europe by any musical production of recent theatrical prominence. The merry piece ran through the best part of two seasons at the New Amsterdam Theatre, N. Y., in an engagement of a year's duration and during that time it was seen by over a half million people and unanimously voted the most entertaining and well directed and handled musical comedy ever made known on this side of the Atlantic.

C. M. S. McLellan wrote the book and lyrics in an adaptation of the French farce, "Le Satyre," by Georges Berr and Marcel Guillemard, which in its original form ran a year at the Palais Royal, Paris. To this captivating story Ivan Caryll attached a score that is so full of delightful musical numbers it is singular that any two or three were picked out for such favor as they have made since the piece was brought out. Of course everyone is familiar with "My Beautiful Lady," "Hush and Seek" and "The Girl by the Saskatchewan" but there are a full dozen others and as they will be played here by the famous Pink Lady orchestra that travels with the company, the music will take on a new charm.

Klaw and Erlanger have fairly outdone themselves in this production for it marks the acme of their artistic achievements along these lines. A notable cast and a company of 100 people will present the work on the local stage and give a performance that will be the unequalled treat of the season. In the extraordinary cast of quality will be found John E. Young, Olga De Baugh, Harry Lepp, George Harvey, Charlie Stone, Tessa Costa, Alfred Davis, Millie Jarbeau, Chas. Morgan, Vane Bradcomb, Dan Young, Lucie Carter, Joseph Monahan, Robert Wilcox and nearly a score of others not forgetting the famous pink of perfection chorus.

The seat sale is announced for Tuesday morning and mail orders are now being accepted to take care of the unusually heavy demand for this special engagement. No telephone orders will be taken and no seats will be held unless paid for. Free list entirely suspended for this engagement.

Of course the pen is mightier than a sword. It gets a lot more exercise.

Consistency is a jewel with which beauty is generally content to be unadorned.

LANCASTER HIGH WINS 2 GAMES FROM NEWARK

Lancaster, Jan. 1—Center Wetzel's six field goals did a great deal last night in bringing Lancaster High's team a victory over Newark, as Guard Brown of the losers cut loose at helping his forwards score.

RYAN DEFEATED DEMPSEY EIGHTEEN YEARS AGO TODAY

Poor old Jack Dempsey ingloriously rounded out his glorious career 18 years ago today, when he took on Tommy Ryan at Coney Island. It was a match that should never have been made, for Dempsey was already far gone with tuberculosis. Dempsey had commenced a career at a Brooklyn cooperage shop, which also turned out Jack McAuliffe, Jack Skelly and Brooklyn Jimmy Carroll and all of them begged the former middleweight champion to call off the fight. He clung to his determination and trained faithfully at the roadhouse of Brooklyn Jimmy Carroll, who died last month. Dempsey made a pitiful exhibition of himself and was "pushed" out by Ryan in the third round. Dempsey died in Portland Ore., a few months later.

Frightful Polar Winds.
Blow with terrific force at the far north and play havoc with the skin, causing red, rough or sore chapped hands and lips, that need Bucklen's Arnica Salve to heal them. It makes the skin soft and smooth. Unrivaled for cold sores, also burns, boils, sore ulcers, cuts, bruises and piles. Only 25c at F. D. Hall's.

There is quite a difference between standing up for people and putting up for them.

The Carpet from Bagdad

A NEW STORY BY
HAROLD MAC GRATH

BRILLIANT tale of the Orient, full of color and with never a dull moment, is the new serial we have secured and which we will print in installments.

The Carpet from Bagdad

is probably the best and most fascinating story that has thus far come from the pen of Harold MacGrath. The plot, starting with the theft of a rare and holy rug by an American adventurer from its Moslem owner and sold to an American collector, is MacGrath's most salient stroke of originality.

You will enjoy following the fortunes of the little group of Americans who meet dangers amid the strange surroundings of the Near East, and who come home only to be involved in more dangerous and remarkable complications.

MARSHAL OF UTICA GETS MAN WANTED

Marshal W. A. Hobbs of Utica, is demonstrating his ability to keep in touch with police affairs of other cities and at the same time protect his own town. As a result of this capacity for police work, the Utica chief brought Edward Roberts, a fugitive from the Clinton (N. Y.) state prison, to the county jail, where he will be held awaiting the arrival of prison authorities who will accompany the fugitive to the Clinton institution.

Roberts is only twenty-eight years of age, but the past twelve years of his life have been spent in jail and prison cells. He is at present under sentence for burglary, and escaped November 21st last, since which time it is believed that he has been in other escapades.

His arrest in Utica was due to his visiting the home of an uncle, a highly respected citizen of that town. Marshal Hobbs noticed the stranger when he arrived on Wednesday afternoon and recalled his similarity to a photograph in the "rogues gallery" of the Utica police station. Investigation proved the identity of the fugitive and Roberts was surprised while sitting, only partially dressed, in his uncle's parlor, telling of his experiences and desire to live a better life. He tried to get to his coat, but was intercepted by Marshal Hobbs. It was found later that the coat contained an automatic Colt revolver.

The Utica marshal will receive a reward of $50 as soon as the New York authorities arrive and identify the prisoner.

A Hero in a Lighthouse.

For years J. S. Donahue, So. Haven, Mich., a civil war captain, as a lighthouse keeper, averted awful wrecks, but a queer fact is, he might have been a wreck himself if Electric Bitters had not prevented. "They cured me of kidney trouble and chills," he writes, "after I had taken other so-called cures for years, without benefit, and they also improved my sight. Now, at seventy, I am feeling fine." For dyspepsia, indigestion, all stomach, liver and kidney troubles they're without equal. Try them. Only 50c at F. D. Hall's.

 THE BIRTHDAY CALENDAR. *****

JAN. 18TH

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

A pleasant and successful journey is prophesied for you, but risks of money and games of chance are not favorable. If you are in employ, you will have an opportunity to render some service which will be appreciated substantially.

Those born today will have talents of a high order in literary and scientific work. They will also be interested in affairs of state and will be successful if allied with those who have practical ideas.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY.

Troubles and discord will worry you, and you will need a firm will and good judgment to manage your affairs. Changes seem unavoidable. If in employ, you will see an opportunity, unless you allow your attention to be distracted by useless thoughts.

Those born today will be of dreamy, speculative natures, and will have to be taught the practical things of life, particularly the care of their own appearance. This one thing, well learned when young, will save many of these children from the career of the unkempt and unappreciated ne'er-do-well, and make possible their success as authors, statesmen or teachers.

MORE CHARGES FILED AGAINST JOSEPH DERMER

Two more affidavits were on Friday filed in the long list under which Joseph Dermer, a former local character, who has been living on the Switzer farm in Mary Ann township, was committed to the county jail by Squire D. M. Jones.

These two affidavits, which were filed by John Swisher, charge Dermer with breaking a lock on a dwelling and with the theft of the fence posts, a saddle, 1 bridle, 1 ladder, 2 bed covers, 2 pillows, 4 sheets, 6 pillow slips, 22 bushels of apples and 2 bushels of pears, all valued at $45.00.

This morning Squire Jones and Constable Robert Forgives went to the county jail and arraigned Dermer. He waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury under a bond of $50 in the first case and $100 in the second.

These two additional bonds raise the sum under which Dermer is held to $750. The charges against him to date are that he stole a suit of clothes, a double-barreled shot gun, a lamp, two pieces of side meat, two pieces of spareribs, fence posts, harness, bedding, apples and pears.

NIZIMI IS PEEVED BY EUROPEANS

London, Jan. 18.—Osman Nizimi Pasha, Turkish ambassador to Germany, who is in London in connection with the peace negotiations, issued a statement today, bitterly arraignment European powers for their attitude in the joint note delivered to the Porte.

"Four months ago," he said, "Europe proclaimed its determination to maintain the state of things existing before the war, whatever the result of the conflict might be. Now the powers are making open allusions to the possible loss by Turkey of Constantinople and some of the Asiatic provinces. What reliance can Turkey place on the powers' promise to exclude all menace to the security of Turkey, when Europe has just given tangible evidence of how little her promises are worth?"

SOUND SLEEP FOR NERVE WRECKED PEOPLE

That old devil, insomnia, is the greatest booking agent on earth.

The result of his never ending labor is so great that it requires thousands of sanitariums and hundreds of insane asylums to take care of his bookings.

The overflow he sends to prisons, jails, workhouses and graveyards.

Of course he has some help; his chief aids are morphine, bromides and cocaine products.

Morse's Glycero-le is a pure vegetable nerve tonic that will force old insomnia to cut your acquaintance in short order. The formula is on the label.

It is such a safe and harmless nerve sedative that thousands of physicians prescribe it for teething infants — mothers should remember this.
